Hickory completes 1st year of girls' basketball, track

By LYNN SATERNOW

Hickory High School completed it's initial year in varsity girls' sports competition this past campaign with play in basketball and track.

Mrs. Mary Reynolds and Miss Sally McKown, coaches for the Hornets girls, said they were pleased with the enthusiasm and determination shown by the students in the first year of competition.

Miss McKown, head cage coach, said that 44 girls turned out for the team, which was cropped to 19 players, including five seniors, six juniors, four sophomores and four freshmen.

Post 1-5 mark

The girls played their home games at the Hickory Junior High gym and compiled a 1-5 record in regular games. The sole victory came at the expense of Greenville, 36-35.

Losses were dealt by Greenville, 38-35, Brookfield, 53-

28, Sharpsville, 41-18 and 47-44, and Sharon Kennedy, 54-25.

The Hornets competed in the Buhl Club tournament and Kennedy Christian tourney, chalking up one win and three losses.

Miss McKown said talk for a Mercer County Girls Basketball League is now underway and anyone wishing to join should contact her at Hickory High.

Young track squad

Track coach Mrs. Reynolds said that 46 girls participated in the track program, mostly sophomores and freshmen. Only two seniors competed on the squad.

The girls held six meets and posted an 0-6 record, but Mrs. Reynolds said that the team improved steadily as the year progressed and should be much improved by next season.

Losses included Grove City 76½-41½, Franklin, 65½-49½ and 61-57, Oil City, 89½-29½, and Titusville, 72-46 and 72-41.

Good cooperation

Mrs. Reynolds said, "It was most gratifying to all to have the backing of the school board, administration and students in our initial year of competition. All are looking forward to better seasons in coming years."

She said that the assistance of the varsity boys as scorers and timers and help of other students was a big boost to the girls.
